For 14 years, the All Born (in) Cross-Disability Best Practices Educational Inclusion conference has inspired parents and professionals with cutting-edge best practices in inclusive education and concrete skills to challenge segregation and promote inclusion.

Visit the archives at allbornin.org to explore workshops, keynotes, presenters, and resources from previous conferences.

Work developed at the conference:

- Bridging the gaps by engaging parents and teachers in collaboration
- Improving outcomes with positive behavior tools, trauma-informed curriculum, accessibility, adaptive classroom technology, and UDL resources to create optimal inclusive environments
- Expanding kindergarten inclusion through trainings and resources for parents and teachers
- Mentoring social justice youths with and without disabilities as they explore critical thinking, art & activism
- Creating college opportunities for students with intellectual disabilities, including the first ever program at PSU

As a sponsor, your logo and information is seen by families and parent groups, advocates, school districts, educators, universities, and policy makers across the region. Our direct mail, email, and social media campaigns reach approx. 4,000 families and professionals, 10,000 city, state, and county employees, and over 2,600 Facebook followers.
